1. Public-benefit objective

All activities directly supported Human Cell Atlas Stichting's public-benefit objective. As Human Cell Atlas Stichting was incorporated in July 2024, the activities undertaken in the first year aimed to establish the entity and explore fundraising opportunities to support the work of Dutch and European scientists. Although activity in year 1 has been limited, the organisation met the requirement for needing to devote more than 90% of its efforts to activities serving the general public interest.

2. Activities carried out during the year

In 2024-25, HCA Stichting carried out the following activities:

1. Governance:
 - a. Appointed the Supervisory Board and Management Board
 - b. Held Board meetings
 - c. Appointed a Data Protection Officer
2. Fundraising:
 - a. Applied for a grant from the European Commission
 - b. Met with The Hague business network to understand opportunities to expand HCA's network to explore opportunities to support local research
3. Supporting European scientific research:
 - a. Established operational processes and procedures to enable European researchers to make use of HCA's managed access service to safely and securely share data
4. Operations:
 - a. Operated a mailbox based in the World Trade Centre in The Hague
 - b. Met with financial institutions to establish banking and accounting services
